By sharing your good diabetes practices with other schools, more schools will gain the knowledge and confidence to deliver good diabetes care. You'll be contacted in advance before we send your school details to other schools for the purpose of sharing good diabetes care practices. Our school will only share information that's been acknowledged in our Award and not provide guidance on other areas or clinical information and advice.

Note that some schools may contact you for advice and support on good diabetes care practices and management in schools. This could involve building networks both locally and regionally to facilitate information sharing between schools.

We'd like to share case studies of successful schools and the parents or carers who nominated them, on what receiving the award means to them and why the good care provided is so important.

Please tick the box to tell us you'd like to find out more or would like your school to be a case study school
